Paul H. Nitze to Head Foreign Service Group

By the Associated Press

Paul H. Nitze, former director of the State Department's policy planning staff, was chosen yesterday to be president of the Foreign Service Educational Foundation.

He succeeds Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts as the second president in the foundation's 10-year history.

The foundation describes itself as a privately supported organization designed to promote better understanding of foreign trade problems by businessmen and Government officials. It is affiliated with the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies.

Mr. Nitze, 46, a former vice president of the New York investment banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co., resigned from the State Department last June after 13 years in Federal service.

He first came to Washington as an assistant to the late James V. Forrestal, one-time Secretary of Defense. He lives near La Plata, Md.
